All things Fredricksen...

Bonnie Goble, Director

Ever wondered how Fredricksen stacks up in comparison to other libraries in this area? Unclear about where the children's librarians assemble all of the paper cutouts for the hundreds of children who participate in the Summer Reading Program? Interested in who designed the stained glass windows? This fall will see the start of the first ever library Docent Program, a perfect source for satisfying curiosity about all things Fredricksen.

Starting September 9, each Thursday evening at 7 p.m., a trained volunteer will guide a small group of pre-registered patrons through the library. The docent will be prepared to answer questions, and will show the group some of the "backstage" spaces of the library. Read More...

Welcome to Fredricksen's New Reference Services Manager!

You may have noticed a new face supervising the Reference Desk, on the right as you enter the library. This would be Brianna Crum, Fredricksen's new Reference Services Manager. Brianna began professional life as an accountant, but somewhere along the road, she decided that libraries were where she was meant to be. She left a promising career with Orrstown Bank to enter graduate school at Drexel University, and earned a Master of Library Science degree. Before she became the Reference Services Manager, she worked in both the reference and children's departments at Fredricksen.

Her love of reading began as a child, when she frequented the Amelia Given Library in Mt. Holly Springs. Her parents encouraged her love of reading, never chiding her for being a self-described "bookworm!" Feel free to introduce yourself to Brianna and join the staff in welcoming Brianna to her management role at the library.

Tell us what you think about our new Adult Summer Reading Program!

We are thrilled that over 200 people registered for the very first Adult Summer Reading Program held at Fredricksen Library! Participants submitted over 600 book reviews, and won 45 prizes from 11 different generous businesses. We will end the program on August 30th with our grand prize drawings. Should we do it again? Please complete the very short survey so we can gather ideas for next year's adult summer reading program. Click here to take our quick survey!

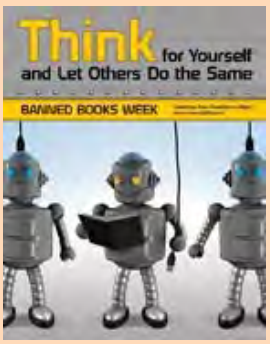
Banned Books Week: September 25 – October 2, 2010



Brianna Crum, Reference Services Manager
This year, Fredricksen Library is celebrating Banned Books Week! The celebration is a response to an increase in the number of challenges to books in various schools, bookstores and libraries around the country. During the month of September, you will find books within the aisles flagged as challenged; be on the lookout for these books and celebrate your freedom to read!
Banned Books Week began in 1982 and nationally celebrates our freedom to read. Books are challenged for their content, and libraries across the nation are committed to keeping these books on the shelves so that patrons are not restricted in what they can read. What does a challenge to a book mean? Read more...

A Flyer's Story - Sunday, September 19 at 2 pm

Steve Runkle's favorite Uncle, Bill Riddleberger, had a remarkable military career both before and during World War II. Before the war, Uncle Bill enlisted as an U. S. Army Air Corps mechanic maintaining pre-war aircraft. When the war started, the requirement for a pilot to be a college graduate was dropped, and Bill was accepted in the Army Air Corp's pilot training program. He made it through the rigorous training and became a B-24 co-pilot. On D-day, Bill arrived in England to join the 8th Air Force in their bombing missions over Europe. After 19 successful missions, Bill was shot down over the Rhine valley. Badly burned, he was treated in a German hospital and sent to a POW camp on the Baltic Sea. After liberation, he returned home to Lewistown, Pa. to start a new life. Then in 1992, Bill traveled to Europe and met the Germans who shot him down. This is Bill's story. Steve Runkle is here as a volunteer with the Susquehanna River Basin Commission's Public Information and Outreach Program to discuss today's topic. No registration necessary.
